

Call for ER Fellows Award Nominees

The ER Fellows Award is an honor given to selected individuals in the conceptual modeling community in recognition of their contributions to research, education, and community service related to conceptual modeling.

Since the annual ER conference is the flagship conference for the conceptual modeling community, special consideration is given to candidates who have a sustained publication record in the conference proceedings, a record of encouraging students and others they mentor to become actively involved in the conference, and strong involvement in and service to the conference such as serving as a PC co-chair, conference chair, or steering-committee chair.

Notwithstanding this intentional bias, ER Fellows may be selected from the broader community when they have clearly made significant research, education, and service contributions to conceptual modeling and continue to be actively involved in ER community affairs.

Nominations

A nominator and at least one supporter should make a nomination and submit material in support of the nomination to the selection committee chair Monique Snoeck (monique.snoeck@kuleuven.be) by June 07, 2026. Each nomination should be accompanied by a summary statement about the nominee and a justification for the nomination. Based on the criteria for the award, the selection committee will select the best candidates among the nominees. Selection committee members and the ER Steering Committee chair are not eligible for the award.
